Greeting.

The Commissioners, the Staff, and the Pupils of Waterloo Academy wish to welcome their many friends to their Concert and Conversazione to be held on Friday evening, December 8th, at 7.30 p. m. Next year the Old Academy celebrates her Jubilee. After nearly fifty years of faithful work, in educating the youth of Waterloo and the neighbouring district, she stands forth strong, eager, loyal as ever to do her duty (through her various officers) and so train the children committed to her care that they may go forth into the world fitted for the various duties which life demands of them.

alone lead life to sovereign power."—TENNYSON.

PREFECTS.

The following boys have been chosen by the Principal and elected by their fellow pupils to assist in the government of the school; viz., Merrill Holden, Gordon Kimber, Jonathan Robinson, George Mizener, Janna Malboeuf. These boys have been given full charge of the discipline of the school during play-hours and intermissions. The system has been found to work very well, the boys chosen are generally the most representative in the school, who, by example and reproof, instil into the rest of the boys the idea that they must behave and uphold the honour of the school. Any boy, who does any thing, which is unworthy of the position of prefect, is, of course, at once disqualified.

ATHLETICS.

A liberal education is promised to those attending Waterloo Academy, the body must be developed as well as the mind. After all, the ultimate aim of education is the formation of character, it is almost impossible to have a sound mind without a sound body. No system of education is thorough which permits a development along one line only, to the detriment of the rest of the body. To this end; viz. that the body and mind may be developed equally, the staff considers it fitting to encourage a legitimate use of athletics. This year a Field Day was held, for the first time, on the Academy grounds. Friday, the 2nd September was an ideal day for such an event and the pupils enjoyed and appreciated the afternoon thoroughly. Through the kindness of the citizens of Waterloo enough money was subscribed to admit of suitable prizes being presented.
